India Deploys Missiles, More Troops In Ladakh To Meet Chinese Threat: Report

Observer Monitoring Desk

NEW DELHI: As tension continues to soar between India and China along the Line of Actual Control (LAC) in Ladakh, the Indian armed forces have deployed advanced quick-reaction surface-to-air missile defence systems in the mountainous region to thwart any possible attack by Chinese forces, ANI reported Saturday.

Indian military is also amassing more men and material as a precautionary deployment along the 3,488-km-long disputed border to meet any eventuality.

The deployment, perhaps one of the biggest in the recent years, comes at a time when India and China are locked in a hitherto unprecedented standoff - for eight weeks now - at multiple points along their border.

Quoting government sources news agency ANI reported Saturday, that as part of the ongoing build-up in the sector, the air defence systems of both Indian Army and the Indian Air Force have been deployed in the sector to "prevent
