LOCKDOWN! SOME QUESTIONS REMAIN

It was evening hours. Sun was about to set. People were preparing for Iftar. My neighbour Gulam Mohammad opened his shop to sell Iftari items like semolina (suji), sugar, basil seeds, juice, fruits etc. There were not many people at his shop. Suddenly a police jeep on petrol duty came, caught hold of the elderly poor shopkeeper, thrashed him and ransacked his merchandise. Not only that they threw juice crates on the road and then ran their jeep over them. A scene that should send chills down ones spine. The incident took place on International Labour Day and irony just died a thousand deaths.....
