Journalist Arrested For 'Anti-National' Activities

Press Trust Of India

SRINAGAR: A journalist was arrested from Bandipora district for allegedly engaging in activities "prejudicial to the sovereignty, integrity and unity of India", police here said on Saturday.

Sajad Ahmad Dar, who works for an online portal, was arrested two days ago, leading to criticism from several quarters.

"There is a different set of laws applicable to J&K vis a vis the rest of India. Radicalised groups openly calling for genocide of Muslims are roaming free while Kashmiri journalists shining a light on state-sponsored human rights violations are jailed. Laws too have been communalised," PDP president Mehbooba Mufti said in a tweet.

Trapped Inside Cars 22 Freeze To Death At Pak Resort

Agencies

ISLAMABAD: At least 22 people froze to death after heavy snow trapped them in their vehicles as tens of thousands of visitors thronged Pakistan's hill town of Murree.

Some reports said many of the victims died from asphyxiation after inhaling exhaust fumes in snow-bound vehicles.

Located 45.5 kilometres north of the capital of Islamabad, Murree is a popular tourist resort that attracts well over a million tourists annually. Streets leading into the city are often blocked by snow in winter.

Atiq Ahmed, an Islamabad police officer, said eight of the 22 fatalities were from the family of fellow police officer Naveed Iqbal, who also died. Most of the victims died of hypothermia, officials said.

Rescue services doctor Abdur Rehman said that after evacuating all of the stranded tourists from their cars, the death toll stood at 22, including 10 men, 10 children and two women.

Interior Minister Sheikh Rashid said the military had mobilised to clear roads and rescue thousands still trapped near Murree.

Video shared on social media showed cars packed bumper-to-bumper, with one-metre-high piles of snow on their roofs.

"The heavy snowfall caused a traffic jam and the closure of roads," Babar Khan, a tourist who was stranded for hours, told AFP by phone.

"Roads were also closed due to falling trees in many places."

The website of Pakistan's National Weather Forecasting Centre said heavy snowfall was expected in the area until Sunday afternoon, while Information Minister Fawad Chaudry said More on P6

Future Iphone May Feature Periscope Lens With Up To 10X Optical Zoom

Agencies

Apple is reportedly planning to launch at least one iPhone 15 model in 2023 with a periscope camera system, allowing for increased optical zoom. As per a recent MacRumors report, analyst Jeff Pu said the periscope lens on select iPhone 15 series models will feature 10x zooming capabilities, far better than the 3x zoom of the iPhone 13. There are already some Android smartphones with periscope lenses, including Samsung's Galaxy S21 Ultra and Huawei's P40 Pro+. Both of those devices feature up to 10x optical zoom. Meanwhile, Apple is planning to add a 48MP camera lens to the iPhone next year. According to analyst Ming-Chi Kuo, these iPhone camera upgrades over the next two years will help to boost Taiwanese manufacturer Largan Precision's market share, revenue, and profit. Kuo previously claimed that the 48-megapixel camera will be limited to iPhone 14 Pro models and allow for 8K video recording, up from 4K currently. 8K videos would be suitable for viewing on Apple's AR/VR headset that may launch next year. The next flagship series, the iPhone 14 line-up, will come with up to 2 TB of storage. Apple will adopt QLC flash storage for next year's iPhone and that thanks to the newer storage technology, it will increase capacity to 2 TB.

DC Tours City Areas To Oversee Snow Clearance, Power Restoration

Observer News Service

SSRINAGAR, JANUARY 08: In wake of overnight snowfall in the district, the Deputy Commissioner (DC) Srinagar, Mohammad Aijaz Asad Saturday morning toured various areas of the Srinagar city to inspect snow-clearance operation and take first hand assessment of other arrangements put in place to deal with challenges from the prevailing weather situation in the district.

The DC visited various areas of the City including Dalgate, Rajbagh, Lal Ded, Magarmal Bagh, Jehangir Chowk, Batamalloo, Bemina and other adjoining areas. # Snow Throws life out of gear in City

Observer News Service

Srinagar:-The continuous snowfall caused water-logging in several areas of the summer capital even if the Srinagar Municipal Corporation (SMC) said they have pressed men and machinery to dewater the city roads.

Following snow and rains from early morning, several areas including Residency Road, MA Road, Dalgate, Jawahar Nagar, Rambagh, Hyderpora, Nowgam and its adjacent roads were water-logged. The problem was compounded by defunct drainage system in these localities.

30 Injured In Prison Riots

Observer News Service

SSRINAGAR- At least 30 people, including a deputy superintendent of jail, were injured in a clash between detainees and CRPF jawans in the high security Kotbawal jail near here today. A high-level en-quiry has been ordered into the incident.

Trouble arose when jail of-ficials and CRPF personnel were inspecting one of the bar-racks housing foreign militants around 1100 hours. According to NAFA, CRPF and police had gone to the jail with sniffer dogs on receipt of some information'. A Pakistani militant identi-fied as Khawaja is reported to have entered into an argument with the police who subjected him to a summary thrashing. This at-tracted die attention of other detainees in the adjacent bar-racks. Around 50 of them, mostly foreigners came out and started shouting 'provocative' slogans.

Sensing trouble, the police and CRPF personnel resorted lathicharge which was re-sponded by the detainees with stone pelting. In the ensuing clash 36 detainees besides the deputy superintendent of po-lice, Harish Kotwal, were in-jured. Several visitors who had come meet their jailed relatives and some shopkeepers also started shouting slogans. They were chased away with some of them sustaining injuries in the process.

Later, a large number of visitors and shopkeepers sat on a dharna on the Akhnoor road and caused disruption in vehicular traffic. It was only after the CRPF commandant arrived at the spot that the situation was brought under control. He pacified the agitated inmates and the protesters and later reported the matter to the higher ups.

Taking a serious note of the incident, the director general of prisons, S S Ali, ordered a high level enquiry into it and asked the jail superintendent to submit a report immediately.

ADVENTURES IN ARCHIVES

Srinagar In Decay

The trouble with traveling the sanitized route from Gupkar Road to the secretariat via the Boulevard every day is that one begins to harbour notions about the rest of the city being built on the same grand scale. This comfortable, scenic journey blinds our rulers to the harsher civic realities of Srinagar, lulling them into a cozy frame of mind where everything is supposed to be ship-shape and Bristol fashion. And if you happen to be among the lucky few residing in the green zone girdling Cheshma Shahi – as many of our top bureaucrats are – nothing could be more heavenly than the state's summer capital.

An illuminating exercise, on the other hand, would be to take a detour up the handy Shankaracharya hillock and look down across the expanse of the city stretching from the now-squalid shores of the Dal Lake. The trip is particularly recommended in winter when trees have shed their foliage, laying the city bare in its stark ugliness. The view is quiet disconcerting, to say the least, as it encompasses the grotesque results of six decades of civic development. It is a wonder that no leader of the ruling class has ever been struck by the progressive decay gripping Srinagar for decades in the total absence of an overall blueprint and vision of how the city should develop and spread. There appears to be no code governing new construction in the already congested parts of the city – which is most of it – and unmindful residents merrily build whatever they want wherever they want regardless of its impact on the look of the city. The plethora of government departments, including the top heavy Srinagar Municipal Corporation, plays no role whatsoever in defining a philosophy of development, and guiding people in adhering to it. In the absence of a central authority that would have defined the form and content of construction in the city, and enforced the code, Srinagar has turned into an architectural nightmare, with neither rhyme nor reason in the monstrosities that go for its buildings. Even the rare tracts that began as planned projects have gone down the decrepit lane as even the purely residential areas have turned into a commercial mess.

Successive governments in the state have totally relinquished control over the use of land for construction, resulting in the mushrooming of unplanned colonies that at best resemble squalid slums with no planned layout, narrow, winding alleyways for roads, and residential buildings that have been put up without any architectural merit. This systematic defacing of the city landscape has taken place when every building in the municipal limits requires a permission, an exercise now exclusively serving as a money-minting machine for the officials concerned. For the years the city municipality has functioned as a corporation with a full complement of expensively elected and maintained corporators, it has not made a single mention of the awry growth of Srinagar, but only served to multiply its ills by a blind adherence to past practices, mostly harmful. It has not even made a pretense at arresting the growth of ugliness in city architecture by putting its droves of engineers to some constructive use. All it has done is to move from crisis to crisis, failing even in the basic task of disposing off garbage.

For a city that boasts of being the capital of the paradise on earth, Srinagar has turned into a veritable hell, a sprawling hovel that tourists from any part of the world would only want to enter to see a living, breathing disaster. Let us, for the moment, keep aside the horrors of the interior city and the squalor of the new residential colonies, but concentrate on the showpiece that Residency Road was meant to be. That should be sufficient to indicate the scale of the vandalism that had been wrought on the city everywhere. Despotic, autocratic rulers appear to have a far more enlightened idea of how a city centre should look like, and in laying out the Residency Road, with its –till then – broad avenues and parks, had created an idiom for the so called democratic governments to follow. But within a span of a few years, the deliberately low-rise buildings lining the mall have been crowded out by multi-storied monstrosities crammed against each other, robbing the once scenic area of its aura of space, serenity and openness. If planners give such a misshapen interpretation of development and progress, there is no hope whatsoever for Srinagar to recover from the decades of abuse.

Winter
A Season Of Merry Or Misery?

Sama Zehra

Jehangir’s “Firdaus” and “Behisht” of all poets and philosophers, blanketed in a thick layer of snow, illuminating the brightest colors of nature is undoubted, a sight for sore eyes. Starting the day with the delicious Kashmiri delicacy “Harisa”, warming yourself up using “Kangris” or the “Hamмам”, and listening to the melody of nature while spending time with your loved ones, is a sugarcoated glance of Winters in Kashmir.

The reality is, that the envelope of snow, other than beauty brings with it an unwelcomed state of misery, and struggle for Kashmiris, one short glimpse of which was recently shared with us via different social media platforms. Two pregnant women, in different cities of Kashmir, were carried on cot for several Km’s to the neighboring hospitals, one of them delivered a baby midway. Locals asserted that the lax attitude of the administration towards de-icing of roads is the cause of the problem.

De-icing of roads has never been given the required importance. For almost half of the winter, the roads remain blocked, the Srinagar-Jammu highway remains closed for vehicular traffic, therefore, bringing the lives of people to a standstill. The poor and in-efficient drainage system has added fuel to the fire. A few inches of snow leads to waterlogging in all of the major roadways of Srinagar, water from drains overflows into the roads, therefore, turning them into a “cesspool”. People have made Innumerable requests and protests to the administration, demanding a modern drainage system, however, the current administration as well as all the preceding governments turned a blind eye towards the issue. In 2019, a senior official at SMC stated that the carrying capacity of drains has decreased considerably due to the silt accumulation during the 2014 floods. He further stated that tenders were issued in this regard however, SMC received no proper response.

Draining out of clogged water from roadways comes with collateral damage i.e., “damaging of roads”. A few inches of snow or rain drastically damages the roads and the government dubiously argues that the “macadam” used is incapable of withstanding elements of rain or snow. Thereby, contradicting their boastful statements about the “excellent quality” of material used in the construction of roads.

The subzero temperature of Kashmir accompanied by unprecedented power cuts, continuous blackouts, shortage of essentials and traffic snarls is not a favorable combination. The issue of power cuts is one of the longest unsolved crises of the valley. Despite having the potential to produce 20,000 megawatts of hydropower, currently, the state only produces 3,263 MW, of which 2900 MW is generated by the NHPC (National Hydro Power Corporation). Merely 13% of the power generated by the NHPC is shared with Kashmir, and the power requirements of the state are met by purchasing electricity at sky-high rates from the northern grid of India. Nonetheless, Kashmiris are left with less than 9hrs of electricity per day.

THE UNPREPAREDNESS OF GOVERNMENT, their lackadaisical attitude towards miseries of people worsens the already harsh condition faced by people. Kashmiris still live in a time where developments are rare, connections are scarce and facilities uncommon.

Even though everyone in Kashmir is affected by the same difficulties, the upper class still manages to keep a safe distance from them. Poverty fuels the hardships faced by people, some struggles in winters are poor-centric and “Government initiatives”, are not strong enough to prevent the harsh weather from reaching the poor families. Winters highlight the abyss of gulf between different classes, an exorbitant difference of perspectives between various social groups becomes evident. While an elite enjoys the chilly weather, the poor living on boulevards of Dal Lake struggles due to waterlogging and freezing temperatures. When forecasts predict harsh weather, people begin stocking up essentials ahead of time. But, if resources are scarce, the option of hoarding is not available to people. Furthermore, the snowfall extensively damages the apple orchards, uproots and damages trees as a result, jeopardizing the livelihood of people living in the outskirts of Kashmir. Last year, untimely snowfall led to extensive damaging of apple orchards, the government decided to compensate however, many haven’t still received any reimbursement. The government fixed a modest compensation rate of Rs. 2800 per Kanal, and surprisingly, failed to pay it.

In the olden times, winters were welcomed and celebrated by people. However, since the ‘90s, winters have marked the inception of a loop of miseries and struggle for the Kashmiri people. The arrival of winters is no more marked by the foliage of autumn leaves instead, it has been replaced by frequent power outages. Day in and out, the valley plunges into blackouts and residents are forced to endure long, harsh winter days without electricity. The government usually flaunts about the developments in Kashmir or about the construction of roads, however, on the realistic ground, nothing really has changed. A drizzle of rain makes Kashmir vulnerable to floods, snowfall disrupts normal life, causes fatalities, accidents and whatnot. The unpreparedness of government, their lackadaisical attitude towards miseries of people worsens the already harsh condition faced by people. Kashmiris still live in a time where developments are rare, connections are scarce and facilities uncommon.

With time, it seems like the idea of Winters being a “season of merry and blessings” will only remain constricted to poets and philosophers. The onset of winters cannot be celebrated until and unless the grievances and concerns of people are heard. Truly, Winter is a season of blessings, a season that displays the true beauty of nature and has a magical effect of resurrecting our dead spirits. In the words of Agha Shahid Ali, “Snow gleams as if a lover’s gaze has fallen to earth. How the season whitens! Even the evergreens are peppered with salt, and only love can take the place of the mountain”.

ford University as saying. South Africa was one of the first countries to identify the variant, but the infections there have been less severe. But medical experts warn that the country is an outlier since it has a young population.

The heavily mutated Omicron has spread to at least 130 countries since it was first discovered in November and has overtaken Delta as the dominant strain worldwide. Case numbers have soared to an all-time high, but the hospitalisation and death rates are often lower than at other phases in the pandemic. “What we are seeing now is ... the decoupling between the cases and the deaths,” WHO Incident Manager Abdi Mahamud said in Geneva.

The threat is more in countries where a large proportion of the population remains unvaccinated. It could overwhelm the medical infrastructure in such countries, and deaths could happen. This is what Tedros was referring to when he sounded the warning are fully vaccinated, so they have largely had milder symptoms and recovered quickly.

I’m not sure whether it was due to Omicron or any other variant. But what’s certain is that more people are catching COVID now. So this is no time to dismiss the threat of Omicron or any other variant.

Omicron is highly transmissible and can kill; it’s overwhelming hospitals, and there have been fatalities. That’s what WHO chief Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus said on Thursday. It’s also an appeal to people not to let their guard down – a reminder to people worldwide that the COVID threat is far from over.

When the WHO chief talks about the pandemic, you have to sit up and take notice. Tedros said record numbers of people are catching COVID from the new variant, and it is rapidly outpacing the previously-dominant Delta variant in many countries.

“While Omicron does appear to be less severe compared to Delta, especially in those vaccinated, it does not mean it should be categorized as ‘mild’.

I scoured the internet to see how rampant Omicron has been. Because all you hear is how mild is this variant apart from its propensity to spread very fast and kill the occasional patient. I couldn’t get the latest figures, but here’s what I found out.

The United States set a global daily record of 1 million cases on January 3, but they have not translated into skyrocketing hospitalisations and soaring deaths. On December 28, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention Director Rochelle Walensky attributed the spike in cases largely to Omicron but added that hospitalisations and deaths remained low. That, she said, could be because hospitalisations tend to lag cases by two weeks and may also be due to milder disease among the vaccinated.

In Britain, there have been 12 Omicron deaths in December. The government’s Life Sciences Adviser John Bell said hospitalisations have increased due to the spread of Omicron, but the disease “appears to be less severe and many people spend a relatively short time in hospital”. Fewer patients required high-flow oxygen, and the average length of stay was to three days, the Guardian quoted the regius professor of medicine at Ox-

COVID-19: Why We Should Not Ignore The Omicron Threat

Omicron spreads very fast but is not dangerous. Its infection is mild, and recovery is swift. You hear this frequently, and it could push us down a treacherous path. This is precisely why the World Health Organisation sent out a stark warning on Thursday. Simply put, there’s no such thing as a mild coronavirus. Even a less infectious strain could be deadly to people with compromised immunity or underlying medical conditions.

The chatter about Omicron being a mild strain can lull people into a false sense of security. I too have been guilty of that. I have been treating Omicron with less dread. That’s in comparison with Delta, perhaps the most virulent strain of all.

Having said that, not once have I let my guard down. When I was preparing for an India trip, Omicron showed up in South Africa and Botswana. True, I was worried about the record mutations that increased its transmissibility, but I took comfort in its decreased severity of infections reported from Gauteng province in South Africa. I was double vaccinated too. So I went ahead with my travel plan and returned unscathed.

THE THREAT IS MORE IN COUNTRIES WHERE a large proportion of the population remains unvaccinated. It could overwhelm the medical infrastructure in such countries, and deaths could happen. This is what Tedros was referring to when he sounded the warning

Polaroids In Memories

Sishar-Gaante/ Icicles

Kashmir and its snow stories that have their etymology in folklore bring in a tinge of Kashmiryat to the surface, especially when they get passed on to kids in a dreamy phase. You can not tell apart the snowflakes fluttering from high above in the sky from a classic fantasy of a Koshur child whose cheeks grow rosier even before the first snowfall. The Shishar-gaante (icicles) hanging on the rooftops of our houses are caught a glimpse of by children with excitement to use as swords to fight the Wai Woph (Kashmir's special witch). These long ice-bound swords are often eaten to make for a natural ice cream that completes your vision of Chilaikalan (40 days of harsh winter in Kashmir). Parents attempt at averting the children from getting their hands red by making their icy friend come to reality but to no avail. Snow and children are the estranged companions meeting each other every year with a growing zest of never wanting to be set apart. Children await their first meet-up with this white sheet to make snowballs out of and throw at each other, aiming to revive the beauty of togetherness in the wintry world of Kashmir

Sheen ha Logun!

One of the most captivating of memories of snow that we all share — irrespective of which condition life has thrown at us — is the first sign of season's first snowfall. Even after years of being habitual of seeing snow, the excitement is always there. Everyone rushes to their windows and stops in awe of the sight. Then families make calculated preparations based on their own assessments about the amount of snow that's going to accumulate. In early morning, men of the house and children rush outside with shovels to clear the path to make way for cars.

If the task seems too daunting, they decide to stay in if work allows. Kids start making architectural plans for their snow figurines while those in their adolescence stay put and wait for it to snow more before getting excited.

A picture perfect moment — all greens and browns taken over by the absolutely gorgeous sheet of white spectacle!

Sheene Jung

Every alleyway of Kashmir has kids sneaking out of their houses with their concerned mothers trying to keep them inside. Often, kids in joint families make elaborate plans for the snow fight. Everyone decides a meeting point and split into teams. The there's the final show down.

Watching kids play, elders often give up their seriousness and come out to join the sheene jung.

Everyone returns to the comfort of their homes where they brush of snow from their pattu pherans and empty out their snow boots for drying.

in his village had instigated locals against the drive, the spokesperson said.

The officials were restrained in discharging their legitimate official duties as result of his actions, the spokesperson added.

A case under sections 147, 447, 336, and 353 of the Indian Penal Code was registered against Dar charging him for rioting, criminal trespass, preventing officers to carry out their duty, and endangering people's lives.

The case is sub judice in the court of JMJC Sumbal, the spokesperson said.

Dar, according to police, was also involved in spreading "disinformation campaign through fake tweets/narratives" regarding recent anti-militancy operation in Gundjahangeer in which an alleged local militant Imtiyaz Ahmad was killed.

"In this regard, a case FIR No. 79/2021 U/S 120B, 153B, 505/IPC stands registered against him which is under investigation," he said.

Dar also allegedly uploaded objectionable videos with anti-national slogans raised by some women on the day most-wanted militant Saleem Parray was killed in Shalimar, Srinagar, the spokesperson added.

Snowfall Grounds

be addressed soon as an upgraded instrument landing system (ILS) will be installed at the airport by November this year, the official said.

"The installation of the CAT-II ILS will begin in April 2022 and would be completed by November 2022. Hopefully, we will not face these difficulties next year," he added.

The official advised passengers to reschedule their flights, which, he said, will be done by airlines free of cost. "The passengers are entitled to full refund if they decide to cancel their journey," he said.

The air traffic to and from Kashmir has been badly affected over the past few days with a large number or flights getting cancelled due to poor visibility.

Srinagar recorded the minimum temperature of 0.2 degrees Celsius last night, the officials said.

They said Gulmarg, the famous skiing resort in north Kashmir, recorded a low of minus 4.6 degrees Celsius, while Pahalgam, which serves as the base camp for the annual Amaranth yatra, recorded a low of minus 0.2 degrees Celsius.

Qazigund, the gateway town to the valley, recorded the minimum of zero degrees Celsius, while the nearby south Kashmir town of Kokernag recorded a low of minus 0.9 degrees Celsius, the officials said.

The mercury in Kupwara in north Kashmir settled at a low of zero degrees Celsius.

The meteorological office has said significant improvement in weather is likely from Sunday morning, after which it is likely to stay mainly dry over the next few days.

The Kashmir valley is currently under the grip of the 40-day harshest winter period known as 'Chilla-i-Kalan' which began on December 21.

'Chilla-i-Kalan' is a period when a cold wave grips the region and the temperature drops considerably leading to the freezing of water bodies including the famous Dal Lake here as well as the water supply lines in several parts of the valley.

The chances of snowfall are the most frequent and maximum during this period and most areas, especially in the higher reaches, receive heavy to very heavy snowfall.

Banihal Highway

National Highway remained closed since Friday afternoon due to heavy snowfall in Banihal sector and multiple landslides in Ramban district.

The traffic on the highway was restored early Friday after remaining suspended for the past two days due to the inclement weather. However, it was again suspended in the afternoon due to continuous snowfall and rains that triggered landslides at nearly half a dozen places including Karol, Maroog, Moum Passi and digdole.

"About 50 light motor vehicles (LMVs) were left stranded due to the closure of the highway. A number of trucks also remained stranded while some 300 trucks carrying essential supplies to Kashmir including fuel and fresh vegetables were cleared," Malik said.

The officials said the stranded passengers including a group of 26 tourists from Gujarat were shifted to community halls in Ramban sector and were provided all necessary assistance including food and blankets during the night.

According to the officials, the highway shall remain closed for traffic on Sunday

"Tomorrow Vehicular movement on Jammu-Srinagar highway will remain suspended as the heavy rains and snowfall has triggered large scale shooting stones activity, landslides and slipper road conditions on the (thoroughfare). The highway is blocked at many places," a traffic department official said.

He said that people are advised not to undertake any journey on the highway till the restoration work is completed and surface is traffic worthy. The traffic plied on Friday before fresh weather system to its closure again.

Due to the heavy snowfall in the valley, the officials said the train service between Banihal and Baramulla sector was suspended as a precautionary measure to avoid any untoward incident.

Snowfall ranging between a few inches to over five feet was recorded in most parts of Jammu and Kashmir, while Jammu city and other plains were lashed by heavy rains during the past 24 hours, the officials said.

The hilly areas of Jammu including Kishtwar, Bhaderwah, Doda, Reasi, Poonch and Rajouri experienced major snowfall, disrupting normal life, the officials said.

They said the traffic on the Jammu-Poonch highway was also suspended due to heavy snowfall in several areas in the twin border belts of Poonch and Rajouri.

Head constable Abdul Rashid was injured when an official vehicle of a police officer rolled down into a gorge at Patnitop in Udhampur district Friday evening, the officials said, adding the injured was hospitalised.

The Patnitop hill resort, a star attraction for tourists visiting Jammu region during winters, recorded nearly one feet of snow, the officials said.

The department has predicted heavy to very heavy snow and rains across Jammu and Kashmir till January 9. (PTI)

"decades" of weather records had been broken in the last 48 hours.

For days, Pakistan's social media has been full of pictures and videos of people playing in the snow around Murree, a picturesque resort town built by the British in the 19th century as a sanatorium for its colonial troops.

The Punjab province chief minister's office said the surroundings had been declared a "disaster area" and urged people to stay away.

Prime Minister Imran Khan said he was shocked and upset at the tragedy.

"Unprecedented snowfall & rush of ppl proceeding without checking weather conditions caught district admin unprepared," he tweeted.

"Have ordered inquiry and putting in place strong regulation to ensure prevention of such tragedies."

TRAFFIC WARNING

Authorities warned last weekend that too many vehicles were trying to enter Murree, but that failed to discourage hordes of day-trippers from the capital.

"It's not only the tourists, but the local population is also facing severe problems," Usman Abbasi, another stranded visitor, told AFP.

"Gas cylinders have run out and drinking water is not available in most areas - it's either frozen or the water pipes have been damaged due to severe cold."

He said hotels were running out of food, and mobile phone services were patchy.

"People are facing a terrible situation."

The town of around 30,000, at an altitude of 2,300 metres, clings to the sides of steep hills and valleys and is serviced by narrow roads that are frequently clogged even in good weather.

Sheikh Rashid said residents had sheltered people trapped in the town and provided blankets and food to those they could reach on the outskirts.

Authorities said schools and government buildings had taken in those who could make it to the town from the clogged roads.

Helicopters were also on standby for when the weather cleared.

Rescue 1122, Pakistan's emergency service, released a list naming 21 people it said had been confirmed dead.

It included a policeman, his wife and their six children.

Hasaan Khawar, a spokesperson for the Punjab government, said they had frozen to death inside their snow-covered car.

Rescue 1122 said another family, of five, was also among the dead.

Authorities Unable To Handle Situation After Snowfall: CPI(M)

Pic: Abid Bhat/KO

Observer News Service

SRINAGAR: Castigating the administration for its alleged ill-preparedness to handle the expected snowfall, CPI (M) leader Mohamad Yousuf Tarigami has said the "tall claims made" by the authorities on their alertness have been exposed by the power breakdown, road blockades, sanctity of ration and other difficulties faced by the people.

In a statement issued here today, the CPI (M) leader said that although a heavy snowfall is not something new for the region but tall claims being made prove a prank.

Referring to the massive power breakdown that had plunged the entire valley into total darkness, he said that the administration failed to restore power supplies. "in most of the areas in valley especially South Kashmir, the restorations claims made by the Power Department are hoax.

The CPI (M) leader wondered that with a few inches of snow the entire administration comes to a grinding halt which is reflective of a dire need for strengthening of disaster preparedness in Jammu and Kashmir. "The snow is yet to be cleared on many roads and a major road network in rural areas across the Valley is yet to see the traffic plying resulting into tremendous inconvenience for the general public.

"Though weather warning system is in place but in absence of the required resources mobilization, weather alerts do not serve any purpose," he remarked.

He urged upon the administration to ensure that there is no scarcity of essential commodities including LPG, kerosene, sugar and ration. "The medical services, especially emergency services, should be monitored besides the damaged power distribution lines should be immediately repaired to ensure a better power supply in the valley" he demanded.

During the high-level online meeting connecting different districts ranging from Jammu to Srinagar as well as the two divisional headquarters of Jammu and Kashmir, respectively, the minister advised setting up of a designated dashboard for real-time updates related to the on-going third wave.

"As of now, most of the positive cases in the third wave have remained asymptomatic or mildly symptomatic with flu-like symptoms which invariably wane away in 4-5 days. There is no room to be complacent because during the second wave also, there was a surge in the later weeks and, therefore, the next few weeks will determine the nature and course of this week's wave of pandemic we are going through," Singh said.

The Minister of State in the Prime Minister's Office said during the first wave in early 2020, there was a regular mechanism for regular monitoring of different districts and a regular coordination between the Centre and the Union Territory.

"The same mechanism will be evolved if required, but meanwhile the functionaries in the administration and elected representatives were free to be in touch with his office as and when required, whenever there was any coordination or intervention needed," he said.

The meeting, among others, was attended by Divisional Commissioner, Jammu, Raghav Langer, Divisional Commissioner (Kashmir), Pandu Rang Pole, Mayor Jammu Chandra Mohan Gupta, Mayor Srinagar Junaid Mattoo, Director General Health Salim Rehman, District Development Council Chairpersons of different districts, Municipal Council heads and district development Commissioners, an official spokesman said.

The minister was informed that by and large there was no major concern in each of the two divisions of Jammu and Kashmir.

Jammu and Kashmir faced a surge in COVID-19 infections with 655 fresh cases being reported on Saturday, taking the overall virus tally to 3,43,965. The region has lost 4,537 of its people to the virus since the beginning of the pandemic.

Among the cases tested for genome sequencing so far, there was no case of Omicron variant of coronavirus in Kashmir division, whereas three such cases were reported from Jammu division.

The Union minister advised setting up of at least one dashboard each in the office of Divisional Commissioner Jammu and Divisional Commissioner Kashmir respectively for real-time information, which could be shared and could also offer regular inputs for follow up.

He also suggested setting up a public helpline in order to build up the confidence of the common masses.

There was a general demand for expediting the genome sequencing facility, in response to which the Director General Health informed that necessary steps had already been taken in this direction, the spokesman said.

PM'S SECURITY BREACH

Former Top J&K Officials, Army Veterans Call For Exemplary Action

Press Trust Of India

JAMMU: Former top J-K officials and Army veterans on Saturday called for an exemplary action on Prime Minister Narendra Modi's security breach at a virtual conference hosted by senior BJP leader and former legislator Devender Singh Rana here.

Describing the security breach during Modi's visit to Punjab as "very serious and unprecedented" in the history of Independent India, the participants said such an incident can neither be trivialised nor ignored keeping in view its implications on the national security and ramifications over the unity of the nation.

In an alleged security lapse, the prime minister's convoy was stranded on a flyover for around 15 minutes in Punjab's Ferozepur due to the blockade of the road by farmers on Wednesday.

Former chief secretary and serving Chairman of J-K Public Service Commission B R Sharma, former J-K DGP Kuldeep Khoda, Maj Gen Goverdhan Singh Jamwal, Lt General R K Sharma and Brig Anil Gupta were among those who participated in the over 90-minute virtual conference.

According to a press release, the participants were unanimous for the expeditious and fair probe into the incident.

They termed the alleged breach a manifestation of failure of the Punjab administration, especially police, saying the SPG Act was blatantly ignored and bluebook violated as deliberate attempts were made to undermine the gravity of the situation, in which the country's top political executive was almost trapped on the flyover with no route to escape in an ambush-like scenario.

Some of the speakers feared an untoward incident having taken place in view of the site being just 20-odd km away from the international border with Pakistan.

An Army veteran observed that the security of the prime minister should be of paramount importance as Modi is "taking on the enemy nations in the neighbourhood firmly" and standing tall in the world community by taking a bold stand on global issues.

Danushka Gunathilaka, 30, Retires From Test Cricket

Press Trust of India

COLOMBO: Sri Lanka's aggressive opening batter, Danushka Gunathilaka, has decided to retire from Test cricket at the age of 30 to focus on the white-ball formats, the country's apex cricket body said on Saturday.

Sri Lanka Cricket (SLC) said the batter "will now be focusing on the shorter formats".

The development comes close on the heels of another 30-year-old batter, Bhanuka Rajapaksa, announcing his decision to retire altogether from international cricket and a day after the board lifted a one-year bio-security breach suspensions on Gunathilaka, Kusal Mendis and Niroshan Dickwella with immediate effect.

Gunathilaka, who stated that he has taken the decision after evaluating all aspects, hasn't played a Test since 2018, with his eight appearances getting him 299 runs, two half-centuries and a career-best score of 61.

He has got a better record in limited overs cricket.

In 44 ODIs, he has scored 1520 runs at an average of 36.19, while in T20Is, he has 568 runs in 30 matches at a strike rate of 121.62.

The trio of Gunathilaka, Mendis and Dickwella was handed a one-year ban from international cricket for a bio-security breach during Sri Lanka's tour of England last year. The ban also included a six-month suspension from domestic cricket, and a fine of approximately USD 50,000.

Djokovic Supporters Continue Vigil Outside Melbourne Hotel

Agencies

MELBOURNE: A small group of supporters of detained tennis star Novak Djokovic continued their vigil on Saturday at the Melbourne hotel where the Serbian world-number-one is being held until his visa care can be heard.

A court hearing on his bid to stave off deportation was set for Monday, a week before the season's first major tennis tournament is set to begin.

The defending Australian Open champion is waiting it out in Melbourne at a secure hotel used by immigration officials to house asylum seekers and refugees.

Some of those held in the facility watched with curiosity from their windows at the smattering of demonstrators.

Djokovic, a vocal skeptic of vaccines, had traveled to Australia after Victoria state authorities granted him a medical exemption to the country's strict vaccination requirements.

But when he arrived late Wednesday, the Australian Border Force rejected his exemption as invalid and barred him from entering the country. (AP)

Agarwal Among 3 Nominated For ICC Men's Player Of Month

Press Trust of India

DUBAI: India opener Mayank Agarwal was on Saturday nominated for the ICC Player of the Month award for December following his stellar performance in the Test series against New Zealand and South Africa.

Besides Agarwal, New Zealand spinner Ajaz Patel and Australian pacer Mitchell Starc were also short-listed for the award.

With regular openers Rohit Sharma, Shubman Gill and KL Rahul all missing games at some point last month, Agarwal grabbed the opportunity with both hands against New Zealand and South Africa.

In two matches, he scored 276 runs at an average of 69.00, which included two fifties and a century.

Agarwal was the architect of the win in Mumbai against New Zealand with a Player of the Match-winning performance of 150 and 62 in the two innings.

He also played a crucial role in India breaking the Centurion hoodoo for the very first time.

Batting first in overcast conditions, KL Rahul and Agarwal set the platform with a brilliant opening partnership of 117. During the stand, he was tested by the fiery Proteas pace attack but came out shining with a brilliant 60.

India posted 327 in the first innings, which eventually proved to be the difference between the two sides.

India-born kiwi spinner Ajaz Patel's name was immortalised in cricketing history in December, when he picked up 10 wickets in an innings against India, becoming the third player in Tests to achieve the feat after Jim Laker and Anil Kumble.

The left-arm spinner played just one Test in the month, where he picked up 14 wickets at an average of 16.07. He picked up all 10 wickets in the first innings but was disappointed by the Kiwi batters who were bundled out for 62.

In the second innings, he picked up four wickets, including that of Agarwal and Cheteshwar Pujara. He finished with figures of 14/225, the best bowling figures in a Test match in 2021.

Starc also had standout performances both with the bat and ball in hand as Australia retained the Ashes with two games to spare.

In three games last month, he picked up 14 wickets at an average of 19.64 and was more than handy with the bat, scoring 117 runs at an average of 58.50.

He set the tone for the whole series by dismissing Rory Burns with the first ball of the first Test. While batting, he kept Travis Head company with an innings of 35 and added 85 crucial runs for the eighth wicket.

In the second Test in Adelaide, Starc snapped six wickets and scored 58. This included a brilliant four-wicket haul in the first innings that helped reduce England to 236, giving Australia a massive lead of 237 runs.

In the Boxing Day Test, Starc picked two crucial wickets in the first innings, including that of England's captain Joe Root.

His innings of 24 not out helped Australia gain an 82-run lead, which proved to be enough as England were bundled out for 68. He picked up three wickets in the second innings as Australia won by an innings to retain the urn.

Second Usman Khawaja Ton Leaves England Batting To Save Test

Agencies

SYDNEY: Usman Khawaja scored his second century of the match to help Australia to 265 for six declared on the fourth day of the fourth Ashes test on Saturday, handing England an unlikely victory target of 388. England, whose hopes of avoiding going 4-0 down in the series would seem to rest on obdurate batting and the weather, will resume on the final day on 30 without loss after Haseeb Hameed and Zak Crawley survived 11 overs before stumps.

The day again belonged to Khawaja, who returned to test cricket after 2-1/2 years as a makeshift replacement for Travis Head when the middle-order batsman tested positive for COVID-19.

The 35-year-old once again oozed class as he re-energised the Australian innings in a 179-run partnership with all-rounder Cameron Green after England had stalled their march towards a second declaration of the match. Unflappable and stylish, Khawaja added a 101 not out to the 137 he scored in the first innings, punching two runs down the ground to reach the milestone for the 10th time.

He was only the third batsman to score centuries in both innings in a test match at the ground, joining compatriots Doug Walters against West Indies in 1969 and Ricky Ponting against South Africa in 2006.

After being dismissed for 294 in the first 40 minutes of the day, England had made a decent fist of bowling at Australia and removed the top four at the cost of only 86 runs. That only brought Khawaja and Green together, however, and they were closing on giving Australia a 400-run lead when the latter holed out to Jack Leach for 74 to finally break the partnership.

Leach (4-84) then had Alex Carey caught behind off the next ball but Australia Pat Cummins denied the spinner a hat-trick opportunity, declining to pad up and calling Khawaja back to the dressing room with the declaration. Four of the Australian wickets were taken behind by Ollie Pope, who was keeping wickets in place of the injured Jos Buttler and Jonny Bairstow.

Bairstow, who scored England's only century of the series in the first innings, Buttler and all-rounder Ben Stokes all had scans on injuries before play but are expected to bat on Sunday. The weather might yet have something to say about that with storms sweeping down the Pacific coast but if they miss Sydney's Eastern Suburbs, England's task looks imposing.

The highest successful fourth-innings run chase in 140 years of test cricket at the SCG came when Australia's overhauled a target of 287 against South Africa in 2006.

Shakib Lauds Bangladesh's Historic Win Over New Zealand

Press Trust of India

DHAKA: Bangladesh's historic victory in New Zealand proves that the youngsters in the team are capable of handling responsibility and the side doesn't always rely on the same 4-5 senior players to win matches, says premier all-rounder Shakib Al Hasan.

Bangladesh created history earlier this week by beating the Black Caps, the reigning World Test Champions, by eight wickets to capture their first-ever win in New Zealand.

"I don't think my presence was necessarily important (in New Zealand). I am actually happy that they did it without me. Not just me (but the others too)," Shakib, who withdrew from the series, was quoted as saying by ESPNcricinfo.

"I think what really delighted me was that the notion, particularly in the media, that not many players apart from the four or five senior ones can win games for the team — that will be changed. If they are handed the responsibility, these youngsters will play better."

The 34-year-old former skipper feels while the win at the Bay Oval will not change things drastically, it will open an opportunity for change.

"We made an unbelievable start to 2022. I am very happy. Credit goes to all the players and coaching staff for playing well under so much pressure and in these conditions. Everyone tried hard."

This was always going to be a challenging year after a difficult time in 2021 for us. I hope we can continue in this manner. Bangladesh do not play this well all the time.

No Ronaldo As Salah Joins Messi, Lewandowski For FIFA Award

Agencies

ZURICH: Cristiano Ronaldo was left off the three-man shortlist Friday for FIFA's best player award for 2021, with Mohamed Salah on it instead.

Six-time FIFA award winner Lionel Messi and Robert Lewandowski are also candidates to win the award on Jan. 17. Lewandowski won last year ahead of Ronaldo and Messi.

No player from Italy's European Championship-winning team or Chelsea's Champions League title squad was on the shortlist.

Ronaldo, a five-time winner, failed to make the cut for only the second time since he was first nominated at the 2007 FIFA awards. He missed out at the 2010 awards when Messi won ahead of Andrés Iniesta and Xavi.

Juventus, with Ronaldo on the team, lost its long-time hold on the Serie A title, placing fourth, and defending champion Portugal was eliminated in the round of 16 at Euro 2020.

Salah was rewarded for another standout year with Liverpool by joining the shortlist for the second time. He placed third in 2018 behind winner Luka Modric and Ronaldo.

In a year when Messi moved from Barcelona to Paris Saint-Germain, he peaked by helping Argentina win the Copa América for his first senior title with the national team. He won his seventh career Ballon d'Or trophy last month.

Lewandowski broke two Bundesliga records by scoring 41 goals for Bayern Munich in the 2020-21 season and 43 in the calendar year of 2021. Both marks were held since 1972 by another Bayern great, Gerd Müller.

Voting was done by national team coaches and captains, specialist media and fans making their choices on FIFA's website. They selected from a longer list of players proposed by FIFA-appointed panels.

Barcelona teammates Alexia Putellas and Jennifer Hermoso, and Chelsea player Sam Kerr were put on the women's shortlist.

Putellas won the Women's Ballon d'Or last month, with Hermoso second and Kerr third.

FIFA will announce winners in an online ceremony from its headquarters in Zurich.
