

Skyrocketing Airfares Worry Tourism Players, Locals In Kashmir

Auqib Javed

Srinagar: Even as the major roads and highways connecting Kashmir Valley with the rest of the world remain open, the soaring airfares between Srinagar and New Delhi have significantly surged in recent days causing concern among tourism players as well as the locals here.

Traveling one-way from New Delhi to Srinagar now costs around Rs 15,000.

Commuters have expressed their grievances about airlines raising their ticket prices for journeys to the Valley, even though the Srinagar-Jammu national highway is through for vehicular movement.

For instance, on November 2, Indigo, a major private player in the aviation sector, is offering tickets from Srinagar to New Delhi for Rs 6255, while Vistara is selling it for Rs 11,765. Similarly, Air Asia has priced tickets at Rs 5785, and SpiceJet's tickets are capped at a whopping Rs 19,416. The same fare applies to those traveling from New Delhi to Srinagar on this day.

Even as the weather in Kashmir remains pleasant and there is no forecast of major snowfall in Kashmir as of now, the airfares have started soaring gradually, leaving commuters high and dry.

The snowfall in winters often blocks Srinagar-Jammu highway and Mughal road—the two crucial surface links connecting Kashmir with the rest of the country. Every year, the closure of highways leads to an unprecedented spike in air ticket prices.

"We have to face this issue every year. I wonder why isn't the government taking concrete steps to fix the rates of air tickets once for all," said Nazir Ahmad, a resident of Dalgate.

Ahmad said they usually witness a hike in airfares during the winters when there is snowfall.

"But this time, even though winter is yet to arrive, the rates have started soaring sky high," he added.

The uncapped airfare rates applied by different airlines operating in Kashmir have also left students More on P6

Security Beefed Up After Fresh Attacks

Srinagar: Security has been beefed up across Kashmir in the wake of a fresh spate of terrorist attacks in the valley which resulted in the killing of a police personnel and a non-local labourer, officials said.

Security forces have intensified checking and frisking of vehicles and pedestrians in several parts of the city here as well as in other parts of the valley, the officials said.

Nakas and mobile vehicle checkpoints (MVCP) have been established at all major intersections of the city, its entry/exit points, and important roads leading to district headquarters, they added.

Jammu and Kashmir Police and paramilitary CRPF personnel have been deployed at sensitive places, especially around minority population areas, the officials said.

They said the security forces are also keeping a watch, including night domination, in the areas where non-locals reside.

While most of the non-local labourers have left the valley because of the cold weather, few are still putting up in ghettos, they added.

The valley has seen a fresh spate of terrorist attacks. Terrorists shot dead a policeman, a father of seven, outside his house in Baramulla district of

Poor Prisoners To Get Centre's Financial Help In Bail, Fines

Agencies

Srinagar: The Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA) Wednesday said that the Government of India will support the poor prisoners who are not able to secure bail and pay the fine imposed on them.

The official document reads that the States/UTs were informed that expenditure in this regard will be borne by the Central Government and therefore they may take full advantage of this scheme in providing relief to poor prisoners.

"Subsequently, Union Home Secretary vide his DO Letter No. 17013/26/2023-PR dated 19.6.2023 had informed the Chief Secretaries of all States/UTs about the scheme and had forwarded a copy of the 'Guidelines and Standard Operating Procedure' which may be followed in implementation of the scheme," it read, adding that "States and UTs were inter-alia More on P6

HC Upholds Dismissal Of Ex-JKB Chairman's Plea Against Removal

M Ahmad

Srinagar: The High Court of J&K and Ladakh on Wednesday upheld its single bench's verdict, dismissing a petition by Pervaiz Ahmad Negroo, challenging his dismissal as Chairman-cum-Managing Director of the Board of Directors of the Bank in 2019.

Negroo had challenged a communication (no.FD/Bkg/21/2019) on June 8, 2019 addressed by the Additional Secretary to the Government, Finance Department of the erstwhile State, to the Company Secretary J&K Bank Limited, conveying the decisions of the Government that he shall cease to be the Chairman-cum-Managing Director of the Board of Directors of the Bank. By same communication, the government had nominated R. K. Chibber as Director on the Board and his appointment as the interim Chairman-cum-Managing Director of the Board and Bank.

Negroo had claimed that the communications, orders, actions of the government are arbitrary, illegal and in utter disregard of the Banking Regulation Act, Articles of Association of the Bank and the Service Manual of the Bank.

Negroo submitted that termination of the tenure post of Chairman and CEO required the mandatory prior approval of the RBI in terms of Section 35B of the BR Act and that its provisions have an overriding effect over the Articles of Association of any Banking Company or any resolution passed by any Banking Company. However his contention was rejected by the Court's single bench on November 11 last year. The order was challenged by him before the Division Bench.

"Having regard to the whole gamut of pleadings, rival submissions and the perusal of the record as well as the impugned judgment, we are of the considered opinion that the learned Single Judge has decided the matter perfectly in consonance with law after a threadbare discussion on all aspects of the case," said a Division Bench of Chief Justice N. Kotiswar Singh and Justice M.A. Chowdhary.

"(The Single Bench) has rightly held that the appointment of the appellant/petitioner as Chairman/CEO of the Bank was contractual in its nature and, as such, there being no applicability of the service law, a writ is not maintainable to the extent of determining his removal as Government More on P6

Change Of Guard In Police

New Director General of Police Rashmi Ranjan Swain takes over at a time when Kashmir is uneasily poised on the cusp of normalcy. But there is also a possibility that the situation could regress into turmoil. If any reminder was needed, it was provided by the successive attack on two J&K policemen and a migrant labourer from the UP. This has yet again underlined that while the challenge of militancy may have abated, it has not gone away. From hereon, there are two possibilities: either the ongoing normalcy will be further strengthened as looks likely, or the militancy may continue to wax and wane as has been the pattern over the past three decades.

This is where Swain's long experience may come in handy. He has been witness to the worst times in J&K, having been the SSP in Srinagar and Jammu. He has also been the district police chief in several other districts. He started his career as SDPO Kothi Bagh and SDPO Ramban and subsequently took over as SP Kargil, SP Poonch and SSP Kathua. He was also the DIG of the State Vigilance Organization, now known as the Anti-Corruption Bureau. These positions demanded not only his professional expertise but also an acute understanding of the region's intricacies. His tenure in these areas was marked by the complexity of maintaining law and order in what was then a deeply troubled place. As the SSP in various districts, including Ramban, Kargil, Kathua, and Poonch, Swain not only maintained law and order but also played a crucial role in establishing the Village Defence Committees (VDCs) and the Special Operation Group (SOG).

Under his leadership, the State Investigation Agency (SIA) was established in the union territory and operated in line with national investigative agencies. The SIA achieved notable successes, including the attachment of properties worth over Rs 100 crore.

Going forward, the situation remains challenging, even though we have come a long way since the troubled nineties, or for that matter even from the period as far back as five years. That said, Kashmir remains an unpredictable place. The situation can suddenly take a turn for the worse. But it is also true that things have stabilized to a large extent and look set to remain so in future. And with Swain's expertise and understanding of the situation, he would be better able to steer the security situation in the right direction.

Winter and People's Powerlessness

Electricity Woes

"A total of 22.5 Lakh smart meters will be installed in Jammu and Kashmir to make sure that consumers get 24x7 power supply. Principal Secretary, Power Development Department (PDD), H. Rajesh Prasad said on Thursday. Prasad said that smart meters are the need of the hour to bring down AT&C losses and to ensure 24x7 power supply to the consumers", reads a news article. But the jarring fact remains that "Pesky Power Cuts Irk Consumers Ahead of Winter in Kashmir", reads a headline appearing recently given the repeated complaints made by the people. People in Kashmir, have been time and again duped by the slogan of "24*7 electricity availability" and the slogan has been time and again used to install meters, smart meters, insulated cables, micro-transformers and what-not. But every time the promise of round-the-clock electricity has been broken and broken badly. According to the recently circulated Schedule, Power Development Corporation Limited (KPDCL) said that "Metered Areas to Face 4.5 Hour Curtailment, Non-metered 8 Hours". This statement starkly looks into the face of "24*7 electricity supply commitment" and the sufferings faced by people in the wake of the dipping climate are only aggravated by the near absence of electricity. People have taken to Social Media to vent their anger and frustration brought in by unscheduled power cuts in addition to the scheduled curtailment. People aren't, to my understanding, against smart meters, except in cases of economic marginality, but what irks people in general, are these un-notified and sudden power cuts and blackouts they have to face now & then particularly at times when electricity is next to oxygen.

Power Deficit State

Of the total identified hydro-potential of 16475 MW, a small fraction amounting to a mere 3500 MW has been developed, of which the state-owned power plants generate around 1300 MW and the centrally owned PSUs like NHPC own a large chunk of around 2000 MW. This underachievement & the state-centre imbalance in shares owes its existence to several topological, political and a host of other factors, the exploration of which is beyond the scope of this article. The lean water flow in the winter season diminishes the power output to the effect that the UT can generate only 300 MW of electricity against the demand of over 1800 MW's. To fill in the power deficit, the state either imports energy from other states or purchases apart from NHPC, the purchase which has put KPDCL under a heavy debt of 14164 Crore. The unpaid dues by consumers, electricity pilferage, and unscientific modes of energy consumption by people not only dilapidated the existing energy scenario but are pushing the department and the state to the point of no return. Thus in asking the department for an uninterrupted power supply, people must not abandon their duties and responsibilities. The state of power deficit has to be met bilaterally by the judicious use of electricity by the people and the infrastructure upgradation by the department. A failure at each end will keep the state energy-starved at all times and also put a heavy burden on state coffers.

Out of Stalemate

Let us start with something very basic - our pattern of energy consumption. Electrical Engineering teaches us that the worst usage of electricity in the domestic sphere is to use it for heating purposes. Recall where the vast chunks of electrical energy consumed in our homes - inefficient heaters, water boilers & other appliances that convert electricity into heat. This consumption pattern not only heavily adds to our bills, but puts an unnecessary and inflexible burden on the generation and transmission systems. Can we not replace these gadgets with their economical substitutes like gas-based stoves, induction cookers & other appliances which are efficient & significantly lessen the burden on electrical systems? We have some of the indigenous methods whereby we have been using wood & coal to heat water & rooms respectively. We are hereby advocating the revival of these options not because of any cultural or aesthetic values, but for the sole reason that these alternatives are more economical than their electrical counterparts. But do we intend to relinquish the department of its commitments & responsibilities and let the people suffer in these harsh winter days? That we can never think of. Having pinned the mistakes and lapses on people's side, the department needs to be reminded that students rely on education to carry on with their studies. There are patients, who depend on instruments & supporting devices that are purely electricity-driven - and these cases usually skyrocket during winter. There are businesses and economies which fall flat in the absence of electricity. How can authorities ignore these facets and switch off the electricity at their whim, jeopardising the lives and economies of people? On this end, a wholesome infrastructural upgrade is needed, as has been said by the experts time and again. A generation has to be up-scaled & this can't be compromised & the department has to wake up to the immediacy of the same. Transmission and distribution losses, amounting to gargantuan figures, have to be brought down, in the absence of which a large portion of the generated power will go to waste. The writer does understand that these are capital-intensive activities requiring a huge capital amount and the state may not be able to carry out the task on its own. It may therefore have to rely on central aid, but in the process, it must not put itself mortgage or agree to terms as have been the fate of previous power agreements between the state & the centre, which we are lamenting and paying for to this day.

The perception which emerges is that despite all the odds faced by the department and despite the aforementioned facts in favour of the department, JKPDCL is not doing enough to ensure a smooth electric supply to its consumers and unscheduled power cuts are the worst forms of nuisance and trouble faced by consumers. The erratic power cuts after issuing a prior schedule is not only irrational but unjustified and unwarranted. The state machinery and the Department in particular needs to wake up to the miseries faced by people and ensure strict adherence to the issued schedule and aspire for a state of affairs where round the clock electric supply is a living reality and not just a hollow statement on paper.

Fresher Recruitment Slump

Just a couple of years ago, placement-season jokes went something like this: Joggers near information technology campuses are in risk of getting recruited. The jokes are have been long forgotten as college campuses, particularly the Tier 2 ones, are teeming with anxious graduating students waiting for a call from these companies.

There is a reason for the anxiety. IT companies have been one of the biggest hirers in India's services sector since the 1990s. But according to data from TeamLease, the industry will hire 40% fewer freshers compared with FY23, when they onboarded 250,000 engineers. Quite a few IT companies have said they would be absent from campuses this placement season. The last time this happened was during the financial crisis of 2008. Though TCS and HCL Tech are planning to go ahead with their campus hirings, the concern is that recruitment of freshers by IT companies this year will be less than half of last year's.

Even if companies are showing up, they are hiring a much smaller number of candidates as compared to earlier. For example, HCLTech's investor release reveals that in the first half of FY24, the company added about 5,227 freshers, just one third of the number last financial year.

Among big companies, Infosys and Wipro, which together hired over 200,000 engineering graduates in the past three years, have said they don't plan to go to the campuses this year. The reasons are obvious. Weighed down by fears of a looming recession in the US and Europe, the IT sector has seen a sharp slowdown in revenue and profit growth. The combined net sales of the IT services companies, which have declared their results so far for the second quarter of FY 24, are the lowest in the past 11 quarters and less than a third of the growth a year ago. Similarly, their combined net profit is the lowest in the past five quarters.

It's a big concern for several reasons, especially as it comes on top of large-scale departures—some voluntary, some forced. India's top three IT companies saw more than 25,000 net employee exits in the six months to September, driven by cost-saving measures, unfilled job openings, and hiring curbs. Besides, IT accounts for about 8% of India's gross domestic product versus less than 1% about 30 years back. Overall, the Indian tech sector employs over 5.4 million people, and the number is dominated by the IT sector. Any pullback by IT giants could weigh on the economy and affect engineering students who have seen IT as the sector of choice for decades, creating fresh challenges for India's demographic dividend and consumption story.

A Journey of Progress and Values

Aubaid Ahmad Akhooon

In the ever-evolving landscape of human existence, society finds itself at a crossroads where traditions meet modernity, and where the past and the future intertwine. This journey of transformation, often marked by social, technological, and ideological shifts, brings forth both challenges and opportunities. What's most critical is how we choose to navigate this path and the values we uphold in the process.

Our ancestors handed down to us a rich tapestry of heritage, customs, and beliefs, which are the very roots of our identity. Their wisdom and timeless values continue to guide us in various aspects of life. Yet, the world today presents us with new and uncharted territories.

The struggle we face is not merely about adapting to change, but about preserving the essence of our heritage while embracing progress. It's about striking a harmonious balance between the old and the new.

In this journey, there are those who have chosen the path of prudence, recognizing the need for modernization without losing sight of their cultural and moral compass. They celebrate their heritage and look forward to the future with a clear conscience.

This approach reflects the enduring values of resilience and adaptability, the capacity to accept change while preserving what truly matters. It encourages us to celebrate innovation and transformation, provided they align with our fundamental principles.

As we progress further into an era of knowledge and awareness, it becomes essential to redefine success. It's not merely about materialism or individualism; it's about how we, as a society, grow collectively. The emphasis shifts towards education, empathy, and unity.

We understand that education is the cornerstone of change. Emulating great minds such as Einstein, Shakespeare, and Alama Iqbal, Aristotle, Rumi we strive to adapt their writings into profound spiritual teachings. We pass on knowledge, the light that dispels ignorance, rather than hide it under the pretense of secrecy.

Our journey leads us to conclude that societal success is built on principles of resilience, adaptability, and wisdom. In the midst of change, we should remember the timeless teachings that shape us.

The trials of history, technological advancements, and cultural clashes bring us to a crossroads. It's a juncture where we need to adopt new ideas while preserving our core values. We realize that true success is not in following materialistic paths, but in nurturing empathy, unity, and knowledge.

We celebrate the visionaries who gracefully adapt to the changing world and, in doing so, remain true to their origins. It's a call to action for us all, to navigate the ever-shifting sands of time while holding fast to the values that truly define us.

This journey is not about saying goodbye to our past, but about enriching our future by bringing along the cherished values that will forever guide our way. It is a testament to human resilience, wisdom, and the power of adaptability that defines the very essence of our existence.

This perspective signifies that success in the present and future is more about values, knowledge, unity, and compassion than any materialistic pursuit. It encourages a holistic approach to life where progress is harmoniously combined with preserving the essence of our culture and tradition.

The great poet Allama Iqbal has rightly said: "Khirad ko ghulam se azaad kar, Jawaano ko piron ka ustaad kar. Hari shaakh-e-millat tere naam se hai, Nafas iss badan mein tere dam se hai." (English Translation: "Liberate intellect from slavery, Make the youth disciples of sages. Every branch of the nation is through your essence, The breath in this body is from your spirit.")

These powerful words by Allama Iqbal encapsulate a profound message of awakening and empowerment. They call for the liberation of the human intellect from the constraints of ignorance and oppression and emphasize the importance of the youth becoming disciples of sages. It's a call to action, urging us to navigate the ever-shifting sands of time while holding fast to the values that truly define us.

In our ever-changing world, we can follow in the footsteps of those who adapt while cherishing their heritage. This not only ensures the preservation of our culture but also allows us to embrace the future with open hearts and a clear conscience.

Benefits of Botanizing

Take a break from your screen and look at plants

Jacob S. Suissa
Ben Goulet-Scott

When you hear about the abundance of life on Earth, what do you picture? For many people, it's animals – but awareness of plant diversity is growing rapidly.

Our planet has nearly 300,000 species of flowering plants. Among animals, only beetles can compete with that number. There are more species of ferns than birds, more mints than mammals, and more beans than butterflies. Measured in total mass, plants make up 82% of all life on land across the globe.

We are plant scientists and co-founders of Let's Botanize, an educational nonprofit that uses plant life to teach about ecology, evolution and biodiversity. In the past several years we have witnessed a botanical boom, with participation in plant-based hobbies surging. From cultivating houseplants to foraging for wild foods and outdoor gardening, plant appreciation is on the rise.

Botanizing is spending time alongside plants in order to observe and appreciate them as living organisms – like birding, but with subjects that stay in place. When you botanize, a simple walk in the woods becomes an immersive experience shared with many species. Getting to know your nonhuman neighbors is a way to engage with a changing planet.

PLANT COLLECTING AND COLONIALISM

Botanizing has a deep and checkered history. Humans have been analyzing and classifying plants for thousands of years, often to figure out what they can safely eat or cultivate.

When Europeans began exploring and colonizing other parts of the world, they were interested in finding plants that were useful as food, medicine or for other purposes. For example, in the early 17th century, the Dutch East India Company forcibly colonized the Banda Islands in what is now Indonesia in order to monopolize the cultivation and lucrative trade of nutmeg (Myristica fragrans).

In 19th-century England, Victorians became obsessed with plants, especially ferns. This craze came to be known as pteridomania, or fern fever. It coincided with the height of European imperialism across the globe, which included widespread collection of valuable plants from faraway places.

Today, however, many botanic gardens and arboreta – gardens that focus on trees and shrubs – have shifted their mission to public education, scientific research and biodiversity conservation. They can be good resources for learning to botanize.

WHY BOTANIZE?

Plants provide raw materials for the homes we live in, the food we eat and the oxygen we breathe. Without them, life as humans know it could not exist.

Nonetheless, many people think of plants more as a backdrop to life, rather than as a central part of it. Scientists and educators call this phenomenon plant awareness disparity – a widespread cognitive bias that leads people to underestimate the diversity and importance of plants.

Research has shown the value of being outside in natural green areas or around plants indoors. Even traditional western doctors are starting to prescribe nature walks to reduce stress and improve physical well-being. Botanizing can provide a reason to get outdoors, and spending time closely observing plants' minute structures is a great mindfulness practice.

We also see botanizing as a valuable alternative to spending time on social media. As many experts have observed, online platforms have become so individually tailored by algorithms that each user participates in their own version of reality, a trend that has enabled increasingly combative and antisocial behavior. Botanizing is an opportunity to take a break from these tailored worlds and deeply engage with local human and nonhuman communities.

Finally, since plants form the foundation of life on Earth, caring for plants is a way of caring for our planet. Botanizing is one simple way to inspire change in other aspects of our lives that prioritizes sustainability.

TOOLS OF THE TRADE

There are many ways to botanize. Typically it involves trying to identify a plant species, observing its form and structure or assessing how it survives in the landscape. Plants are everywhere and don't move, so this can be done in virtually any setting, including your windowsill or sidewalk.

So, how do you start? You can focus on plant structure, ecology, interactions, colors, textures or scents – or tastes, if you're bold. You don't need to travel far or spend a lot of money. There's much to learn from your houseplants, the food you cook, the wood grain of your furniture, the plants growing in your sidewalks, gardens or local green spaces.

HERE ARE A FEW ESSENTIAL TOOLS:

- ▶ A hand lens is a window into the minutia of the botanical world. It's as essential for a botanist as binoculars are for a birder. We recommend one with 10x magnification – that is, one that magnifies what you're looking at by a factor of 10.
- ▶ A local field guide is your reference textbook. A good field guide to your local plants will have images and detailed text that you can use to cross-reference your identifications.
- ▶ A plant identification app can help confirm your identifications. Machine learning algorithms are getting increasingly good at matching plant images with species. One popular choice is the Seek app, which is powered by iNaturalist, an online social network where people share information about living species and get help with identifications.
- ▶ Almost every region of the U.S. has local botanical clubs that typically hold regular meetings and organize workshops, online groups, botanizing days and more. Joining one is a great way to meet and learn from people with similar interests.

To germinate your initial interest, we recommend searching for a spark plant – one that excites, engages or is meaningful to you. It can be a plant that you are familiar with but haven't seen growing in real life, one that is totally new to you, or one that you associate with a special moment.

If botanizing is to reclaim its place as a nature-based hobby, we believe it is important to reimagine it as a critically evolved 21st century pastime. That means looking at plants with appreciation – not simply as products for human use but as foundational and interconnected members of life on Earth.

Anticipation Grows for Hezbollah Leaders Speech Amid Rising Tensions

Agencies

Beirut- The air in Beirut is thick with anticipation. A speech, announced via social media, is set to be delivered on Friday by Hezbollah Secretary-General Sayyed Hasan Nasrallah. Specific details about the content or context of the speech remain shrouded in mystery, further fuelling the suspense.

Nasrallah's speech is eagerly awaited, as many observers have warned that the Iran-aligned leader will only speak to announce a turning point in the conflict, wrote L'Orient Today.

After four weeks of silence, expectations are high. Nasrallah can't afford to disappoint his audience on Friday, which will likely exceed his usual Lebanese followers by far, according to the L'Orient.

The right moment

Since the start of the al-Aqsa Flood Operation, Nasrallah has opted for an unusual communications strategy, to say the least. Instead of launching into his traditional inflammatory speeches, he chose a puzzling silence, which only began to break last week.

On Sunday, Hezbollah posted a 10-second social media video showing Nasrallah's blurred silhouette walking past the party's logo.

The ten second video clip, released on the day Israel began ground incursion into Gaza, went viral on the social media sparking speculations about next Hezbollah move.

"This has to do with psychological warfare," reiterated those close to the party.

Nasrallah had earlier appeared in a photo alongside Hamas second in command

Saleh Arouri and Islamic Jihad leader Ziad Nakhale during a meeting in Beirut. The sporadic "appearances" will culminate on Friday Nov. 3 when Nasrallah takes the stage nearly a month after the start of the war. Officially, his speech will be a tribute to the party's fighters that died in recent clashes.

"He will speak in the run-up to Martyr's Day," celebrated Nov. 11 every year, said Kassem Kassir, an analyst reputed to be close to Hezbollah. "It also comes on the heels of the 106th anniversary of the Balfour Declaration [Nov. 2]," Kassir added. The Balfour Declaration is a letter signed in 1917 by UK Foreign Secretary Arthur Balfour that pledged to work for the creation of a "national home for the Jewish people" in Palestine. This document is considered one of the founding texts of Israel.

According to another interpretation, Nasrallah, who has long praised the "unity of the resistance fronts," was merely waiting for the right conditions to make a speech.

"He could not speak when Israel seemed to be in a position of strength, particularly because of the unlimited Western support Tel Aviv received after Hamas' Oct. 7 attack," said Mohannad Haj Ali, an expert on Hezbollah at the Carnegie Middle East Centre in Beirut.

Since then, the situation has changed. "Today, on the one hand, Israel has been subjected to its limitations on the ground in Gaza. On the other, there is global outrage, including in the Western capitals, against Israeli war on Gaza.

"Nasrallah is probably not going to announce war. The speech is mainly aimed at boosting the resistance fighters' morale," said Faisal Abdel Sater, an observer close to Hezbollah.

Haj Ali believes Friday's speech may not be a major turning point in the conflict. "In reality, it will be more an exercise in form than substance, with a real effort to put on a show."

While even in Lebanon, Nasrallah's speeches have been broadcast less and less since 2019. Friday's speech will likely be followed not only by the majority of Lebanese people, but also throughout the Arab world, and by Western and Israeli leaders.

The speech by Nasrallah on November 3 is expected to shed light on Hezbollah's stance and its future course of action. Analysts will be poring over every word, looking for clues and coded messages that offer insight into Hezbollah's strategy and goals, according to Israel Ojoko of BNN network. "Whatever the content, the speech is bound to have far-reaching implications for the entire region," he said.

"At a time when his popular base, as well as Lebanese and regional public opinion, is increasingly angry with Israel, Nasrallah will on Friday be the first Arab leader to directly address the Jewish state since Oct. 7," wrote the L'Orient.

CS Launches Virtual Tour Application, Competitions To Create Awareness Against Corruption

Observer News Service

Srinagar: Chief Secretary, Dr Arun Kumar Mehta Wednesday launched the virtual tour application developed by J&K e-Governance Agency (JaKeGA) that would enable officers to visit remote areas to take stock of the public grievances and developmental activities without necessity of physical visits.

The virtual tour project introduces a mobile app for remote site inspections by combining the features of video conferencing with location-based virtual interaction. It is transformational in the sense that it enables the officers to have real assessment of all the developmental activities besides holding interaction with public with automated records.

The application offers a simple procedure to visit remote areas without having to leave the office premises. Officers can explore and inspect sites remotely in real-time and give necessary instructions directly to the field functionaries executing the projects on ground.

Moreover the application is AI based that converts recorded observations into text and provides summary of the same also as per the requirements of the user. The application has also been tailored for efficient site inspections, making it distinct from general video calling apps that do not support most of the requisite features desired from such applications.

In addition, Chief Secretary launched several competitions of the IT Department for the citizens of the UT to mark the 'Vigilance Awareness Week' on similar lines under the theme "Say No to corruption, commit to the nation".

Skyrocketing Airfares

and patients fuming. The exorbitant rates have also impacted tourism players as guests have canceled their bookings.

"A group of tourists was scheduled to travel to Kashmir from November 15th to November 24th. They had booked over three rooms in our hotel, but they canceled it after the air ticket rates were hiked," said Jan Mohammad, a hotelier from tourist hotspot Boulevard here.

Manzoor Ahmad Pakthoon, chairman of the Kashmir Houseboat Owners' Association, told Kashmir Observer that they have raised the issue of unilateral hike in air tickets with the higher authorities but no action has been taken so far.

"This has become a routine now. We are tired of raising this issue with the administration. I think it needs to be addressed by the Central government," Pakthoon said.

He quickly added that though there's no rush of tourists to the Valley, the tourism players were expecting huge flow once the Valley receives snowfall.

"One can only imagine the airfares when Srinagar-Jammu national highway shuts due to landslides or shooting stones caused by snowfall," he added.

An official from the Tourism department told Kashmir Observer that capping air tickets was the domain of the Civil Aviation Ministry, not the Union Territory administration.

Notably, in March of this year, a parliamentary panel urged the civil aviation ministry to establish price limits for airfares, preventing airlines from using predatory pricing strategies under the guise of a free-market economy.

The panel emphasized the need to strike a balance between the commercial interests of private airlines and the welfare of passengers. They highlighted the importance of enabling the growth of private airlines while ensuring passengers are not exploited in the name of commercialization.

However, the government made it clear that they aren't in favor of interfering in a free-market economy by putting caps on airfares.

Security Beefed

official said the focus of the security apparatus is to prevent the loss of life of even a single person.

Referring to the modus operandi of the attacks, the police official, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said the attacks are mafia-style where a new recruit is given a task to prove loyalty by hitting a soft target before joining the terror ranks.

In the wake of the attacks, Jammu and Kashmir Lieutenant Governor Manoj Sinha will chair the meeting of Unified Headquarters (UHQ) on Wednesday.

The high-level meeting, which will be held at the Raj Bhawan here, will discuss the prevailing security scenario of J-K, the officials said.

The meeting will be the first for the newly appointed Jammu and Kashmir Police chief R R Swain.

Apart from Swain, the Army's top brass, including General Officer Commanding-in-Chief (GoC-in-C) Northern Command, both General Officers Commanding (GOCs) of Army in Kashmir and Jammu (15th and 16th Corps), Chief Secretary Arun Kumar Mehta, Home Secretary R K Goyal, all heads of CAPFs, intelligence agencies, would attend the meeting. Srinagar Smart City Limited and the residents of Srinagar and adjoining districts on the occasion.

"Smart mobility to optimize transportation services for harmonious balance with ecology is our top priority. The addition of 100 e-buses is a big leap to achieve Carbon Neutrality as per the vision of Prime Minister Narendra Modi," he said.

He said the Srinagar Smart City Limited is translating the 'modal shift' concept into reality through an integrated approach to provide smooth transportation to people and contributing to the sustainability of society.

The LG further said the e-buses dedicated to the people today will ensure that daily commuters and office goers have access to reliable, affordable, sustainable and safe public transport systems for Srinagar city and the connected districts.

He directed the officials to ensure the dedicated Charging stations for the e-buses remain functional round the year.

At the launch ceremony, the LG expressed gratitude to the Central Government for the support and assistance in improving the urban transport in the UT.

"Soon the dream of Metro Rail in Srinagar and Jammu will become a reality," Sinha added.

The e-buses are equipped with Universal Access and HVAC (Heating, Ventilation, and Air Conditioning) systems, on-board vehicle tracking system, CCTV and emergency stop facility.

A dedicated Mobile app and online ticket payment facility have been developed for the convenience of the passengers. All the buses are integrated with Srinagar Smart City's Integrated Command & Control Centre.

A bus depot is coming up at Pantha Chowk and charging sub-stations have been developed for smooth operation of e-buses.

Talks Tough

J&K DGP Swain through a power-point presentation briefed LG about the prevailing security scenario in J&K that entailed the recent attacks on policemen and non-JK labourers and the counter-steps taken by police.

Similarly, sources said the army officers briefed the LG about the status of infiltration along the LoC and the status of terrorists in the hinterland besides the success achieved so far in elimination of terror and terrorists. Expressing satisfaction over the prevailing peaceful atmosphere, the LG told the meeting that zero tolerance should be adopted for those promoting terror and anti-peace elements who make a bid to disrupt the peaceful atmosphere in the UT.

Sources said that the LG stressed on the need of fine-tuning the advisories and SoPs for policemen, soldiers while on duty or on leave.

A source privy to the meeting, said that the LG directed the security top brass to ensure those behind the attacks on police officers and non-J&K labourers or non J&K residents are identified and brought to justice. The LG, as per sources, stated that "we can't allow to see any sort of disruption in the peaceful atmosphere."

In back to back attacks in the past three days, a police inspector was seriously injured in Srinagar while a Head Constable was shot dead in Baramulla. A non-J&K resident was also killed in Pulwama. "Every life is precious be that a civilian, policeman or a non-J&K labourer who comes here to earn a living. We all need to protect the lives of all," he said, adding that "nobody should be allowed to disrupt the peace and efforts need to be doubled to wipe out the remaining terrorists."

While commenting on the border situation, the LG expressed his satisfaction and praised the army for foiling almost all infiltration bids along the LoC this year. "Army has a task ahead to keep a watch on possible rise in the infiltration bids before snow blocks the passes," he said.

The ongoing conflict between Palestine and Israel was also discussed in the meeting and it was decided that all security agencies will keep a close watch on the happenings and the possible fall-out of the middle-east conflict on J&K.

Meanwhile, a joint security review meeting was held at Avantipore, Pulwama where senior army and police officers participated to review and discuss the prevailing security situation in South Kashmir. Army's 15 Corps also known as Chinar Corps wrote on X formerly known as twitter that "GoC Victor Force chaired the meeting which was attended by senior officials of police and CRPF."—(KNO) advised through the Guidelines to constitute an 'Empowered Committee' in each District of the State/UT, which will assess the requirement of financial support in each case for securing bail or for payment of fine, etc. and based on the decision taken, the DC/DM will draw money from the CNA account and take necessary action to provide assistance to the prisoner."

The MHA further said that it is expected that the State/UT authorities would have initiated necessary action for constituting the 'Empowered Committee' as envisioned in the Guidelines and SoP and would have identified eligible prisoners to whom the benefit of this scheme can be extended.

"During our recent meetings with the Head of Prisons of all States and UTs, we had requested them to share the details of action taken by them in this regard. However, a response is awaited in the matter," it said.

The MHA further said that since this is a significant scheme of the Government of India which can have far reaching effects on the life of poor prisoners who are not able to secure their release from prisons on bail or due to non-payment of fine, States/UTs are requested to kindly review the matter personally and confirm to MHA if Empowered Committees as envisioned in the Guidelines and SOP have been constituted in all Districts of the States/UTs and whether beneficiaries of this scheme have been identified by the States/UTs.

"The Central Government has made the requisite provision of funds which are ready to be drawn by the States/UTs after following the procedure laid down in the Guidelines/SOP. The State/UT authorities may therefore issue necessary directions to its concerned officers for activating the scheme on urgent basis and provide a confirmation to MHA in this regard," the document read—(KNO)

PATNITOP: Nestled amid this picturesque hill resort in Jammu and Kashmir's Udhampur, India's highest ropeway, the Skyview Patnitop by Empyrean, sees more than 500 tourists turn up daily to experience gondola rides with breathtaking views of the valley.

A testament to Indo-French collaboration, the ropeway executed through a Public-Private Partnership model with the Patnitop Development Authority has reinvigorated this quaint hill resort.

"Over 500 tourists go up and down daily in the gondolas. We have created several activities for tourists coming to Patnitop... They can experience the meadows and other attractions and can proudly say that they have travelled in the highest gondola in India," Dinesh Gupta, manager of Skyview by Empyrean, told PTI here.

Spread over 11 acres, Skyview Patnitop offers several adventure activities and has come up as a mountain adventure destination for the new-age traveller.

"We have created a luxurious and adventure destination at Skyview. The gondola starts from Sanget valley and goes till Padora in Patnitop... This is India's highest gondola (in ground clearance). It is CEN certified (European standard certification). We have international acclamation for all safety measures and over 200 safety checks are conducted daily," Gupta said.

The experience of Skyview by Empyrean's mountain adventure destination, particularly the gondola ride, is one of a kind and truly impressive, tourists said.

"Riding the gondola in Skyview resort is an amazing feeling. We can get the entire view of Patnitop... We can see all the flora and fauna," tourist Skinda Sharma said, adding that tourists from across the country

Adventure lovers can also experience Asia's longest zig-zag zipline measuring 580 metres here, Gupta said, adding 25 people can take the zipline ride at a time.

He said that an all-season tubing sledge having a length of 238 metres is also operated with the highest standards with an efficient braking system.

"The initiative of the gondola is very nice. Tourists who visit Jammu usually complain about how there is nothing to do here. It's a beautiful tourist attraction for them," Arun Kumar, a student, said.

425 Drug Peddlers Arrested In Baramulla, 69 Charged Under PIT-NDPS

Majid Nabi

SRINAGAR: Baramulla district of north Kashmir alone saw 425 drug peddlers arrested and 69 most wanted dealers charged under the stringent Prevention of Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances (PIT-NDPS) this year so far.

The Jammu and Kashmir Police have also confiscated three residential houses, three cars, and cash amounting Rs three crore belonging to drug peddlers, as part of the ongoing campaign against drug trafficking in the northern district.

A senior police official told Kashmir Observer that 242 cases of narcotics have been registered in Baramulla district till October ending, while 425 protect youngsters from falling prey to drug addiction will continue," he added.

He said 2.670 kg brown sugar worth 3.47 crore, 4.527 kg heroin worth 6.33 crore, 11.808 kg charas worth 59.04 lakh and 198.692 kg poppy-straw worth 1.29 crore have been recovered by the police in Baramulla district this year.

J&K Cong Targets Centre Over 'Failure' To Protect Innocents

Press Trust Of India

JAMMU: Slamming the Centre over a series of targeted terrorist attacks in the Valley, Jammu and Kashmir Congress chief Vikar Rasool Wani on Wednesday demanded an explanation from the government over its "failure" to ensure safety of innocents.

A police head constable and a non-local labourer were killed and a police inspector was injured in three separate attacks by terrorists in Kashmir in the last three days.

While the police inspector was shot at and injured in Srinagar on Sunday, the labourer from Uttar Pradesh was gunned down in Pulwama on Monday and the head constable was killed outside his house in Baramulla district on Tuesday.

Condemning the terror attacks, Wani said the security of Jammu and Kashmir is directly under the control of the Ministry of Home Affairs so the Centre should give an explanation for its "failure" on this front and in ensuring safety of innocents. "The government must ensure the safety and security of innocents and check militancy," he said.

The Congress leader further asked the Centre and the Jammu and Kashmir administration to focus on "checking the growing acts of terrorism instead of making tall claims of total normalcy" in the union territory.

Omar Condemns Terror Attacks, Says Situation 'Not Normal'

Press Trust Of India

SRINAGAR: National Conference vice president Omar Abdullah Wednesday condemned the recent militant attacks in Kashmir, saying the situation in the Union territory was not normal.

Terrorists shot dead a policeman outside his house in Baramulla district of Jammu and Kashmir on Tuesday. A labourer from Uttar Pradesh was shot dead in Pulwama district on Monday, while a police officer was critically injured in firing by terrorists on Sunday in Srinagar.

"We regret these targeted attacks and condemn them. We ask the government to at least be truthful. We keep on hearing from them that the situation has improved and is now better," Abdullah told reporters here.

Abdullah said whenever statements about improvement in the situation are given by the government, targeted attacks take place in the valley.

"Sometimes police is targeted, sometimes civilians. The situation is not normal, we all know that. Why is the government trying to mislead the people? Only the rulers can answer that," he added.

Asked about Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal being summoned by the Enforcement Directorate, the former chief minister of J-K said opposition parties and leaders were paying the price for doing politics.

"What is new in that (summon to Kejriwal)? Which opposition leader or opposition party is there that has not received such summons? There have been such summons before as well and they will come in the future also.

"You have to pay a price for doing politics, especially the opposition here. This is not something new," he said.

The NC leader said Kejriwal is not the first leader in the AAP who will face this as other leaders of the party have also been summoned before.

ODI World Cup: Red-Hot India Take On Sri Lanka

Press Trust of India

MUMBAI: Twelve years on from that dream April 2011 night when a country of billions landed in a frenzy of delight, India take on Sri Lanka in another World Cup clash here on Thursday, albeit one that is poles apart from being termed an encore.

If that World Cup final was truly a battle of titans in every sense, the impending contest is more or less a battle of the unequals. India have hitherto marched on immaculately in pursuit of a third title and Sri Lanka have lost more than what they have won.

Unbeaten in six straight games and largely unchallenged for longer spans, India have displayed traits of being a champion side which has the knack of staging remarkable fightbacks.

India's confidence is irrefutably high but greater is their self-belief and trust on skills — witnessed in the mini-storm created by Australia in Chennai when reduced to 2/3 or when England limited them to a modest 229/9 in Lucknow.

The doggedness to keep striking England until the defending champions were disintegrated was not only another display of their potential, but also a sign that India's opponents must raise the performance bar significantly higher when it comes to facing Rohit Sharma's team in this World Cup.

Coming into fray as a forced selection with India looking to answer Hardik Pandya's absence by creating 'balance', Mohammed Shami has only provided the happiest of selection headaches with nine wickets — including a fifer — in only two appearances.

But the think tank led by captain Rohit and coach Rahul Dravid knows 'Special Shami' must be preserved for greater battles ahead — for India would still need Jasprit Bumrah fresh and firing to steer through remaining challenges in the league stage.

Sri Lanka are no pushovers but they have faltered more often than not in this World Cup after a superlative show in the qualification round.

South Africa Beat New Zealand By 190 Runs

Press Trust of India

PUNE: Quinton de Kock and Rassie Van der Dussen revelled in the knowledge that the focus back home has finally shifted from rugby to cricket, striking scintillating hundreds to power South Africa to 357 for 4 against New Zealand at the World Cup here on Wednesday.

De Kock (114 off 116 balls) hit his fourth hundred of the tournament to go level with Kumar Sangakkara, who achieved the feat in 2015 edition, while Van der Dussen blazed away to a 118-ball 133.

For record, only three batters have scored four or more centuries in a single World Cup edition.

David Miller blasted 53 in 30 balls to provide the final flourish, barely days after the whole country was basking in its rugby team's record fourth World Cup triumph in Paris.

Taking dew into account, New Zealand's stand-in skipper Tom Latham opted to bowl first at the Maharashtra Cricket Association Stadium whose stands were half-full with some people gathered outside when the in-form De Kock and skipper Temba Bavuma walked out to bat.

After Bavuma's dismissal, in De Kock and Van der Dussen the South Africans had the perfect duo to set the tone, and they did exactly that with a 200-run partnership in little over 30 overs.

Dealing with two set batters was not the only challenge for the Kiwis as they also had players getting injured, the last thing for a team that was already grappling with injuries to key players heading into this match.

After Matt Henry hurt his right hamstring and received treatment, Jimmy Nesham also had some injury issues.

Batting on 104 off 105 balls, Van der Dussen shifted gears and launched into Neesham for two consecutive sixes, the first one was thanks to Trent Boult tipping the ball over the ropes while trying to catch it. Then, Van der Dussen carted Tim Southee for a maximum over long-on.

By the time De Kock and Van der Dussen were dismissed, they had done enough for South Africa to aim for 350. Miller produced a few big hits to prop them up towards the end.

J&K Lift U-16 Balramji Das Tandon Cricket Tournery

Observer News Service

SRINAGAR: J&K beat Punjab on Wednesday to lift the 3rd Balramji Das Tandon U-16 Multi-Day Cricket Tournament.

Playing at DAV College Cricket Ground in Chandigarh, J&K won the toss and opted to field first in the final. Punjab batters showed grit but failed to maintain any meaningful partnership as they were bowled out for 256 in 83.5 overs. Yamuna Singh top scored for Punjab with 88 (128), while Ravtej Singh scored 47 (113). For J&K, Mohd Shefan Abbas, Arun Kumar and captain Manivya Sharma took two wickets each. Irfan Ashraf, Saksham, Jeevesh Gupta and Shourya Chouhan took a wicket each. With the total in sight, the J&K youngsters needed to take a first innings lead to win the tournament. However, the J&K top order fumbled as the team slid to 99-4 at one point in the game. Middle-order batter Shourya Chouhan 91 (150) led from the front and was ably supported by Manivya Sharma 48 (112) to lead J&K close to surpassing Punjab's total. At the end of the day's play, J&K were 284-8 after 82.1 overs. The first innings lead meant the Under-16 boys had won the tournament for the first time. Zaid Mufti 38 (47), Shiva 28 (72), Mohd Shefan Abbas 25 (36) and Rahil 23 (31) were the other contributors for the team. For Punjab, Akash Singh and Yuvraj Arora took two wickets each. Shourya Chouhan was awarded man of the match.

India Keen To Host 2030 Youth Olympics, 2036 Olympics: PM Modi

Agencies

NEW DELHI: Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Wednesday interacted with India's Asian Para Games contingent here and said the country is making efforts to host the 2036 Olympics and 2030 Youth Games in the country. Interacting with the para-athletes at the Major Dhyani Chand Stadium here, the Prime Minister said the approach of the government is "athlete-centric".

He said India is growing in terms of its sporting culture and also as a "sporting society". The Prime Minister said there is another reason that India has gained the self-confidence to move forward. "We are trying to host the 2030 Youth Olympics and 2036 Olympics," PM Modi said.

He lauded the performance of India's Asian Para Games contingent at the Asian Para Games 2022 and motivated them for future competitions. The programme was attended by the athletes, their coaches, officials from the Paralympic Committee of India and the Indian Olympic Association, representatives from National Sports Federations and Union Sports Minister Anurag Thakur.

"I keep finding opportunities to meet you...I have come between you people for only one thing and that is to congratulate you. You were outside India, playing in China... Every second, I was living your efforts and confidence sitting here. The way you all have made the country proud is absolutely unprecedented. Your performance has left the entire nation thrilled," PM Modi said.

"Those of you who have been selected for the games, some won, some learned but no one lost...In sports, only two things happen, either you win or you learn. You never lose," he added.

India ended their Para Asian Games campaign at Hangzhou in China with a total of 111 medals, consisting of 29 gold, 31 silver and 51 bronze. India finished fifth in the medal tally. (ANI)

Saudi Arabia Likely To Host 2034 FIFA World Cup After Australia Pulls Out

The Associated Press

GENEVA: Saudi Arabia is all but certain to host the men's 2034 World Cup after the Australian soccer federation decided not to enter the bidding contest, which had been widely seen as shaped by FIFA to suit the oil-rich kingdom.

FIFA had set Tuesday as the deadline for its member federations in Asia and Oceania to formally declare interest in hosting the tournament, and it later confirmed that only Saudi Arabia was in.

Australia's decision not to enter the race left Saudi Arabia alone as a declared candidate — to the dismay of many human rights activists.

FIFA still needs to rubber stamp Saudi Arabia as the host — a decision that is likely to be made late next year — but that now seems a formality.

It would be the culmination of Saudi Arabia's ambitious drive to become a major player in global sports, having already spent massive amounts on bringing in dozens of star soccer players to its domestic league, buying English soccer club Newcastle, launching the break-away LIV Golf tour and hosting major boxing fights.

But FIFA's seeming eagerness to pave the way for Saudi Arabia to host its marquee event has drawn widespread criticism from activists who say it exposes the governing body's human rights commitments as "a sham."

When FIFA made a deal this month to have just one host bid for the 2030 World Cup — uniting Spain, Portugal and Morocco with three games placed in South America — it also fast-tracked the 2034 hosting race with only member federations in Asia and Oceania eligible to bid. The tight deadline gave them less than four weeks to enter the race by Tuesday and just one month more to sign a bidding agreement with government support for staging 104 games over nearly six weeks.

Qatar hosted in November and December, in the heart of the European club soccer season, to avoid extreme heat in the summer months and a Saudi tournament likely also will be moved from the traditional June-July period.

Real Madrid Extends Contract Of Brazil Forward Vinicius Junior To 2027

The Associated Press

MADRID: Real Madrid extended the contract of Vinicius Junior on Tuesday, tying the Brazil forward to the club through the 2026-27 season.

Vinicius' original contract was set to expire at the end of this season. Madrid did not reveal financial details, but Spanish media said the deal makes Vinicius the team's highest-paid player and carries a buyout clause of 1 billion euros. ($1.06 billion).

"Improbable, but not impossible," the 23-year-old Vinicius said on X, formerly known as Twitter. "Thank you president, fans, teammates and everyone who works at Real Madrid. Thank you family and friends. In the club of my dreams until 2027, fighting for more titles together."

At the signing, Vinicius posed with club president Florentino Pérez and displayed a Madrid jersey with the No. 2027 on it.

In his six seasons with Madrid, Vinicius has made 235 appearances, scoring 63 goals and winning nine titles, including a Champions League and two Spanish leagues. He scored the winner in the Champions League final in which Madrid defeated Liverpool 1-0 in 2022. His other titles with the club include a Copa del Rey, two Spanish Super Cups and two Club World Cups. Madrid said in a statement that Vinicius already is one of the club's "most influential players of recent years."

There were doubts early on as he showed signs of his talent but struggled to contribute. He was known for his misses in front of goal just as much as for his speed and nifty dribbles in front of defenders.

The forward steadily improved and is now both a scoring threat and a gifted playmaker in coach Carlo Ancelotti's team. Vinicius last season was targeted by racist abuse and received widespread support in the soccer world after an incident in Valencia, prompting a series of actions by Spanish authorities to improve the fight against racism in the country. Vinicius on Monday won the humanitarian prize named after the late Brazil midfielder Socrates for his involvement in the foundation that the Madrid player set up for underprivileged children.
